

How to Set Facebook Privacy Settings

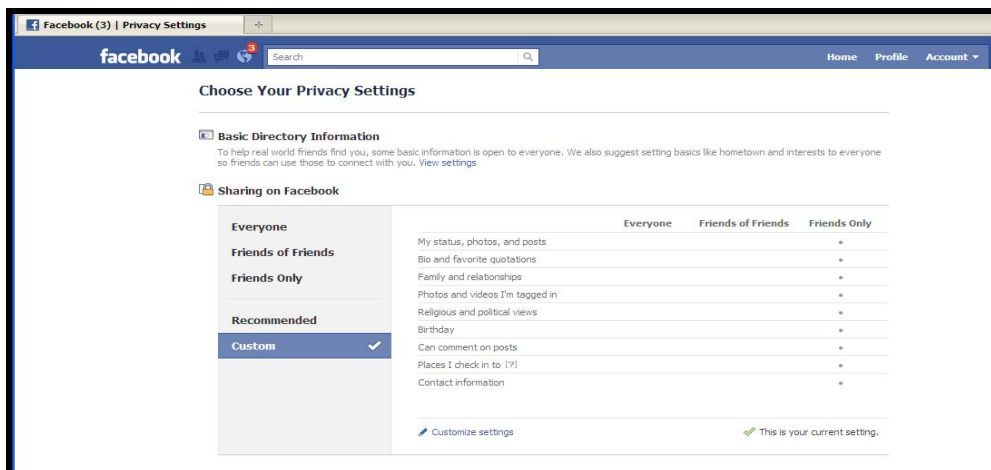

9-27-10

These privacy settings will determine who can search for you and find you on Facebook. If you leave the choice at "everyone" then everyone can find you on Facebook. You can even choose to have your Facebook profile entered into search engines if you really want to be found.

You're able to change your personal profile information privacy settings, photo and video privacy settings, keep your personal information secure, and decide who can contact you or see your profile and who can't.

Go To: Profile/Account/Privacy Settings

Under Sharing on Facebook, choose CUSTOM

Adjust who can see your profile information. You have three choices; Everyone, Friends of Friends, Only Friends, or you can create customized settings. The parts of your profile you can change privacy settings for here are:

- My status, photos, and posts
- Bio and favorite quotations
- Family and relationships
- Photos and videos I'm tagged in
- Religious and political views
- Birthday
- Can comment on posts
- Places I check in to
- Contact Information

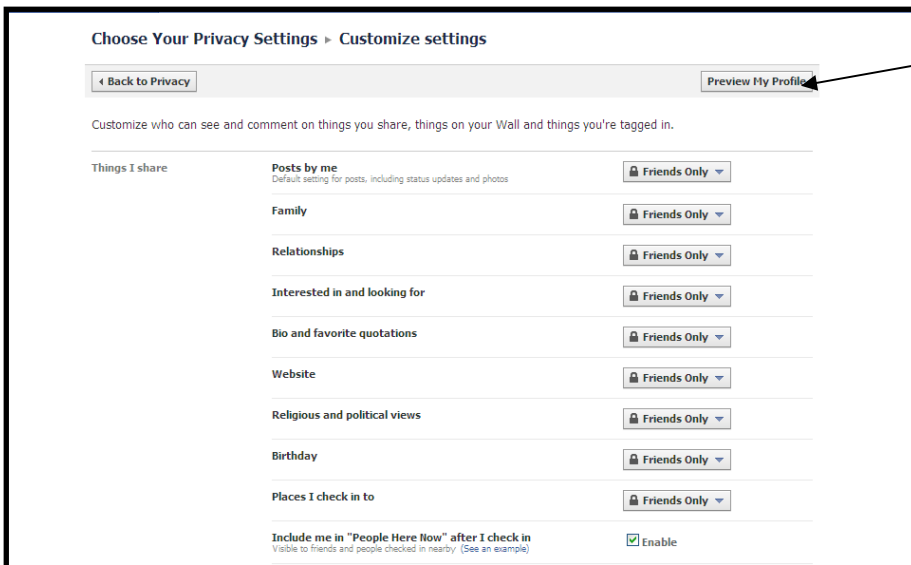

How to Set Facebook Privacy Settings

Choose CUSTOMIZE SETTINGS

You can now customize who can see and comment on things you share, things on your Wall and things you're tagged in

- Things I share
- Things others share
- Contact Information

Go through each item and set your privacy settings from the 3 choices offered.

Go to changes

NOTE: Under things I share, click on the "Edit album privacy" for existing photos" link to set privacy setting for pictures already in your album. The default for photos in Facebook is EVERYONE, so be sure to change this to your preference.

You do not have to save the settings when you are done.
